The cabin is equipped with four-point airbag shock absorption, Grammer aviation seats and advanced noise reduction technology.

The body is precision welded by ABB robots, with a 100% automation rate, precise welding, and even distribution of welding spots. The use of this process ensures structural integrity and impact resistance in harsh environments.

And SHACMAN tractors are also equipped with aluminum alloy three-level pedals with pedal lights and anti-skid protection. The use of polyester fiber in the cockpit significantly reduces noise and improves thermal insulation.
