Product Description

Company Profile:

As a ten-year strategic distributor of SHACMAN, Hongyang has three 4S stores, annual sales of more than 1,500 sets Shacman heavy duty trucks. We have a large quantity of new truck and second-hand truck. So you can tell us your specific transport needs, and we will find the suitable one for you.

Product Description of Shacman Tractor Truck:

These advantages of cement mixer trucks make them an important tool for transporting concrete in the construction industry, especially in large-scale construction projects and construction sites that require large amounts of concrete supply.

Mix evenly: The cement mixer truck is equipped with a rotating mixing drum, which can continuously mix the concrete during transportation to ensure the uniformity and quality of the concrete.

Improved efficiency: Due to the continuous supply of concrete, pouring operations at the construction site can be carried out uninterrupted, greatly improving construction efficiency.

Reduce pollution: The centralized production of ready-mixed concrete in a mixing station can better control dust and noise pollution, which is beneficial to environmental protection.

Transportation capacity: Cement mixer trucks usually have a large transportation capacity and can transport a large amount of concrete at one time, which is suitable for large-scale construction needs.

Good safety: The structural design of the mixer truck takes into account driving safety, such as a stable center of gravity, a solid body, etc., which reduces safety risks during transportation.
